

Fire and Restoration: working with fire for healthy lands

SAVE THE DATE

Nature Conservation Council's 10th Biennial Bushfire Conference

Tuesday 26th and Wednesday 27th May 2015, 9am – 5pm

NSW Teachers Federation Conference Centre, Surry Hills, Sydney

The Nature Conservation Council of NSW is proud to present its 10th Biennial Bushfire Conference Fire and Restoration: working with fire for healthy lands. Further details of the conference themes and a call for abstracts and registrations will follow soon.

This two day, multi-disciplinary fire management conference will focus on how fire can be used to rehabilitate degraded landscapes, restore ecological integrity and reinstate resilience into the environment and the community. It builds upon themes identified in previous conferences further exploring the use of fire as a restoration tool. Using scientific evidence and on-ground case studies in collaboration with practical risk management strategies, the conference will highlight how resilient and healthy ecosystems are an integral component of prepared and resilient communities.

This tenth conference will also feature interesting historical accounts, focusing on lessons that have been learnt over the 35 years of the Bushfire Program and celebrates 60 years since the establishment of the Nature Conservation Council.

Who should attend? People involved in bushfire planning, management and operational activities, property owners, volunteers, as well as people involved in ecological restoration and management, such as bush regenerators and consultants.

For more information please contact:

Michelle Rose, Bushfire Program Coordinator
bushfireconf2015@nature.org.au or 9516 0359

Nature Conservation Council The voice for nature in NSW

 Fire and Restoration
working with fire for healthy lands