

KNOW-HOW OF NATIVE SEED COLLECTION

WEDNESDAY 7TH NOVEMBER 2018

Want to grow your own!

There are real benefits in collecting and growing your own seed from local native species as they are suited to local condition and support native wildlife. Sue Logie is the Seedbank Coordinator with Murray Local Land Services and is an expert in the field with over twenty years experience working in revegetation. She is going to share her knowledge. How lucky are we! Come and join us.

Lunch and Morning tea provided $15. Let us know if you have any dietary requirements. Bring a water bottle, hat, long pants and enclosed shoes for a short field walk.
