

The River Paddock

The River Paddock can be one of the most productive areas of your farm for grazing, hay or cropping. Lands adjoining rivers are also important for supporting biodiversity and to filter runoff into rivers and creeks. How these areas are managed can help ensure that you get the most out of your River Paddock for production, biodiversity and water quality. Come along to this field day to discuss:

- Maximising groundcover
- Managing nutrients
- Effective floodplain cropping
- Smart weed management
- Promoting healthy riparian zones
- Supporting biodiversity
- Maximising livestock health
- Preventing soil erosion

The River Paddock field day* will be held on:

Cooma area: Monday 23 Feb 2015
Bredbo area: Tuesday 24 Feb 2015
Dalgety area: Saturday 28 Feb 2015

RSVP to South East LLS – 02) 6452 1455 or luke.pope@lls.nsw.gov.au

Each field day will run from 10am-1pm, followed by a BBQ lunch. Field day specific directions provided upon RSVP.*

Local Land
Services
South East

Australian Government

